

Treatment guidelines and current standards of care (US)

2019

American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) 1

- Encourages nonpharmacological treatment for ages <6 years and a combination of pharmaceutical treatment and behavioral intervention for ages >6 years
- Considers the evidence supporting the use of stimulants to treat ADHD as strong and the evidence supporting nonstimulants as sufficient but not strong

2020

American Academy of Pediatrics (AAP) 1

- Encourages nonpharmacological treatment for ages <6 years and a combination of pharmaceutical treatment and behavioral intervention for ages >6 years
- Considers the evidence supporting the use of stimulants to treat ADHD as strong and the evidence supporting nonstimulants as sufficient but not strong

2019

American Professional Society of ADHD and Related Disorders (APSARD) 3

- Guidelines for the diagnosis and treatment of ADHD in adults are being developed

References:

1. Ref